MTRE 4400 – Directed Research – Mechatronics
Course Syllabus – Summer 2018

I. Identifying information

Students: *****

Course: MTRE 4400 Directed Research – Mechatronics, 1 credit

Instructor: Kevin McFall, PhD.

II. Course Description

This directed study will explore building a prototype create an automated system to take high quality images of automobiles as they are loaded onto trains or trucks for transport. The system will need to detect the presence of the vehicle, trigger acquisition of images from multiple angles, and log the images in an archive with timestamps.

III. Objective of the Course

The primary goal of this course is for the student to understand and implement the technology for a practical project involving mechatronics engineering principles.

IV. Detailed Schedule

- Week 1: Compile information about system from previous Mechanical Engineering senior design project
- Week 2: Test final operation of the system
- Week 3: Time for final troubleshooting or other unexpected issues
- Week 4: Collect data of system in operation
- Week 5: Prepare data to be included in report
- Week 6: Write draft of final report
- Week 7: Review draft of final report
- Week 8: Finalize report

The student is expected to work independently on this project, of course under direction of the instructor. Meeting with the instructor is expected at least once weekly, demonstrating completion of the week's task. A minimum total of 50 hours of time is required on this project. The student is expected to follow all safety guidelines when interacting with equipment as directed by instructors and laboratory technicians.

V. Basis for Evaluation

The primary deliverable for this course is documentation of a working image capture system. The student will be evaluated on satisfactory operation of the system (40%), compilation of a logbook documenting the progress made and time spent (20%), and preparing a manuscript describing the system and its operation appropriate for submission to the Early Career Technical Conference¹ (40%). Grades will be assigned for each component according to the following rubric:

- A (90-100): Exceptional deliverable quality and/or completion of extended topics
- B (80-89): Satisfactory completion of deliverables
- C (70-79): Incomplete completion of deliverables
- D (60-69): Partial completion of deliverables
- F (0-59): Little or no completion of deliverables

University Policies

Academic Honesty

Every KSU student is responsible for upholding the provisions of the Student Code of Conduct, as published in the Undergraduate and Graduate Catalogs. Section II of the Student Code of Conduct addresses the University's policy on academic honesty, including provisions regarding plagiarism and cheating, unauthorized access to University materials, misrepresentation/ falsification of University records or academic work, malicious removal, retention, or destruction of library materials, malicious/intentional misuse of computer facilities and/or services, and misuse of student identification cards. Incidents of alleged academic misconduct will be handled through the established procedures of the University Judiciary Program, which includes either an "informal" resolution by a faculty member, resulting in a grade adjustment, or a formal hearing procedure, which may subject a student to the Code of Conduct's minimum one semester suspension requirement.

Plagiarism Policy

No student shall receive, attempt to receive, knowingly give or attempt to give unauthorized assistance in the preparation of any work required to be submitted for credit as part of a course (including examinations, laboratory reports, essays, themes, term papers, etc.). When direct quotations are used, they should be indicated, and when the ideas, theories, data, figures, graphs, programs, electronic based information or illustrations of someone other than the student are incorporated into a paper or used in a project, they should be duly acknowledged.

Disability Statement

Kennesaw State University provides program accessibility and reasonable accommodations for persons defined as disabled under Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973 and the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990. Kennesaw State University does not deny admission or subject to discrimination in admission any qualified disabled student.

A number of services are available to help students with disabilities with their academic work. In order to make arrangements for special services, students must visit the Office for Student Disability Services and make an appointment to arrange an individual assistance plan. In most cases, certification of disability is required.

Special services are based on

- medical and/or psychological certification of disability,
- eligibility for services by outside agencies, and
- ability to complete tasks required in courses.

ADA Position Statement

Kennesaw State University, a member of the University System of Georgia, does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, religion, age, sex, national origin or disability in employment or provision of services. Kennesaw State University does not discriminate on the basis of disability in the admission or access to, or treatment or employment in, its programs or activities.

The Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA), Public Law 101-336, gives civil rights protections to individuals with disabilities. This statute guarantees equal opportunity for this protected group in the areas of public accommodations, employment, transportation, state and local government services and telecommunications.
