Course Description
This course is designed to prepare students for scientific research in geography, environmental fields, and related disciplines. It introduces students to a variety of spatial and environmental research concepts, approaches, methods and techniques. This course guides students through aspects of scientific research, generating research ideas, choosing a research topic, conducting a literature review, methodology design, data collection, data analysis, drawing conclusions, and presenting/disseminating research results. Students develop a research project and present it to the class. This course is cross-listed as GEOG 2200 and ENVS 4200 and may count toward the Geography or Environmental Analysis and Sustainability degree. Prerequisites: (ANTH 1102, or GEOG 1101, or GEOG 1130) and GEOG 1102.

Course Objectives/Goals
Students who successfully complete this course should be able to:
1. Describe basic geographic/environmental research concepts and methods.
2. Review geographic/environmental research methods in geography/environmental literatures.
3. Design research projects in their fields of interest.
4. Apply research methods to their own research projects.
5. Develop writing skills to present and disseminate their research and findings.
Required Textbook

Additional readings: To add further context to textbook concepts and class discussions a select set of supplemental readings may be made available at the discretion of the instructor. These readings may be drawn from newspapers, magazines, academic journals, book chapters, etc., and would be made available as handouts in class or online via D2L.

Unless otherwise stated, grades and feedback on items due will be returned to students within one week of the due date.

Final course grades will be assigned based upon the total points from the items above out of 500 total possible points, computed to a percentage according to the grade guideline below.

- A = 90-100
- B = 80-89.9
- C = 70-79.9
- D = 60-69.9
- F = <59.9

Participation (5 percent of total course grade):
Active participation in class discussions and all other components of the course is important. Consider our class as an assemblage of individuals that is unique and irreplaceable. Irregular participation not only hurts a student's course work, but it weakens the class as a whole. Students are expected to participate in all class activities and discussions, complete all written assignments and research proposal components, and complete assigned readings by the beginning of the week in which the reading is assigned (refer to schedule presented in this syllabus) in order to actively participate in the class each week. Class participation makes up 5% of the total course grade.

Reading Quizzes (20 percent of total course grade):
In order to be prepared for class discussions and to adequately participate in class, students must read the corresponding chapters in the textbook (and any other assigned readings as announced) by the beginning of the week in which the reading is assigned (see syllabus schedule below). Ten reading quizzes will occur randomly throughout the semester. The ten textbook reading quizzes, worth 10 points each, account for 20% of the total course grade.
Discussions (20 percent of total course grade):
There will be five discussions throughout the semester. Each discussion is out of 20 points. For each discussion, please respond to the discussion prompt using the discussion rubric below as a guide; and please also respond to at least three other classmates’ posts.

Assignments and Research Proposal Components (30 percent of total course grade):
Throughout the semester, students will complete several assignments that apply concepts from readings and class discussions and also form the components and building blocks of their research proposal papers that will be due by the end of the course. These specific written assignments (see week-by-week schedule below for due dates) build upon each other and include developing a potential research topic, developing specific research questions, constructing a literature review, and describing the study area, methodology, and data sources. All assignments and research proposal components will be submitted electronically on the D2L course site. The written assignments are 30% of the total course grade.

- Assignment 1 (5 points): IRB CITI Training, “Students Conducting No More Than Minimal Risk Research” (see instructions on the assignments drop box on D2L, and use that folder to submit your completion certificate)
- Assignment 2 (10 points): List of three potential research topics for your research proposal.
- Assignment 3 (15 points): Literature search and evaluation.
- Assignment 4 (15 points): Description of research questions for your research proposal.
- Assignment 5 (15 points): Survey questionnaire design.
- Assignment 6 (15 points): Data sources.
- Assignment 7 (20 points): Research proposal background, literature review, and research objectives.
- Assignment 8 (15 points): Statistics data sources.
- Assignment 9 (20 points): Research proposal study area, data sources, and methodology.
- Assignment 10 (20 points): Draft of your research proposal paper.

Research Proposal Paper (20 percent of total course grade):
Students will spend time throughout the course developing a research proposal in a particular field of geography or environmental studies based on their research interests. The various components of the research proposal paper (see “assignments” above) will be due at different points throughout the semester (see syllabus week-by-week schedule below for due dates). The final research proposal paper will also go through a peer review with other students in the class. However, the full/final research proposal paper will be graded only once—at the end of the semester. More detailed requirements for the paper are described below. The final research proposal paper is out of 100 points (see grading rubric below) and makes up 20% of the total course grade. It is due via D2L dropbox on the last day of class.

Structure of Research Proposal Paper:
In general, the research proposal paper should have the following or similar components (not necessary to follow this structure, but should be logical). The paper should be organized into sections with section headings (and subheadings if needed).

1. Introduction: an overview of your research question(s).
2. Background: Background information about your topic to help readers understand your research concepts, question(s), and context.
3. Literature Review: You should read at least 10 literatures (i.e., peer-reviewed academic journal articles, scholarly book chapters, or other scholarly work) relevant to your research questions and methods. They may be peer-reviewed journal papers, book chapters, or books you can get from the library and electronic databases searchable through the Library or Google Scholar. The literature review is a summary of the previous studies relevant to your area of research and research question(s). You should discuss the differences between your proposed study and the previous studies, the limitations in the previous studies, any improvements your study may make, and why your study is needed to contribute or fill a gap in the particular area of knowledge.

4. Research Objectives: Provide detailed research purposes and questions or any hypotheses you want to test.

5. Study Area: Most geographic topics are for a specific place, area, or region. Describe the information relevant to the research questions in the study area (physical, social, historical, environmental, cultural, etc.).

6. Data Sources and Methodology: Clearly describe how you will collect the data and the methods you plan to use to explore and interpret the data and address the research questions. A flow chart may help you organize the methodology and make it easier to understand.

7. Results: Describe potential and/or expected results and how they will help to answer the research questions and hypotheses.

8. Conclusion: Tie everything back together with the broader literature and describe any scientific, social, and practical contributions your research may make. Also make suggestions for future research related to this topic.

9. References: List the literatures in a standard and consistent bibliographic format, such as APA, MLA, or Chicago Style. The key is to choose one style and remain consistent with in-text citations and reference list/bibliography format. If you don’t have any idea of a particular reference citation format, look at one of the peer-reviewed journal articles you reference in your research project paper and follow its particular citation and reference format. Consistency is key!

Research Proposal Paper Peer Review (5 percent of total course grade):
After you turn in a draft of the research proposal paper, the instructor will distribute your paper draft to other students in the class. Each student, from the perspective of an editor reviewing a draft manuscript for scholarly journal article publication, must read and review one other student’s research project paper draft and send comments back to the author and to the instructor. The author may send the responses back to the reviewer and the instructor and make necessary revisions or respond to the feedback in the discussion. The peer review will be graded based on how you review another student’s research project paper draft and how you respond to another student’s and instructor’s comments on your own paper draft. This part makes up 5% of the final course grade.

University Policies

Academic Honesty

Every KSU student is responsible for upholding the provisions of the Student Code of Conduct, as published in the Undergraduate and Graduate Catalogs. Section II of the Student Code of Conduct addresses the University’s policy on academic honesty, including provisions regarding plagiarism and cheating, unauthorized access to University materials, misrepresentation/falsification of University records or academic work, malicious removal, retention, or destruction of library materials, malicious/intentional misuse of computer facilities and/or services, and misuse of student identification cards. Incidents of alleged academic misconduct will be handled through the established procedures of the University Judiciary Program, which includes either an “informal” resolution by a faculty member, resulting in a grade adjustment, or a formal hearing procedure, which may subject a student to the Code of Conduct’s minimum one semester suspension requirement.

Plagiarism Policy

No student shall receive, attempt to receive, knowingly give or attempt to give unauthorized assistance in the preparation of any work required to be submitted for credit as part of a course (including examinations, laboratory reports, essays, themes, term papers, etc.). When direct quotations are used, they should be indicated, and when the ideas, theories, data, figures, graphs, programs, electronic based information or illustrations of someone other than the student are incorporated into a paper or used in a project, they should be duly acknowledged. For more information, please see: Why is cheating/plagiarism wrong and what will happen if I’m accused of academic misconduct?: http://scai.kennesaw.edu/students/general-info/cheating.php

What is Plagiarism?

Every KSU student is responsible for upholding the provisions of the Student Code of Conduct, as found on the Student Conduct and Academic Integrity (SCAI) website http://scai.kennesaw.edu/students/general-info/cheating.php. Evidence of collaboration on quizzes, discussions, false identity, or any other form of cheating will result in either an informal resolution by the professor, resulting in an “F” for the course, or a formal hearing which may subject a student to the Code of Conduct’s minimum one semester suspension requirement.

Plagiarism is defined as the practice of taking someone else’s work or ideas and passing them off as one’s own. If you are unaware or uncertain on how to properly cite a particular source, please do not neglect to add the citation—that is considered plagiarism.

If you have questions on how to cite your work, please contact me immediately! For more information, please refer to the “Plagiarism Policy” under the Policies section of this syllabus.

Turnitin

Students agree that by taking this course all required written assignments may be subject to submission for textual similarity review to Turnitin.com for the detection of plagiarism. All submitted written assignments will be included as source documents in the Turnitin.com reference database solely for the purpose of detecting plagiarism of such papers. Use of the Turnitin.com service is subject to the Terms and Conditions of Use posted on the Turnitin.com site.
