Course Description

Introductory geography course focusing on the ways in which cultural groups around the world utilize and modify their landscapes and environments. This course is a survey of global patterns of resources, population, culture, and economic systems. Emphasis is placed upon the factors contributing to these patterns and the distinctions between the technologically advanced and less advanced regions of the world. Prerequisites: None. Note: GEOG 1101 satisfies one of Kennesaw State University's general education program requirements. It addresses the Area E4: Social Sciences general education learning outcome(s). The learning outcome states: Social Sciences: Students analyze the complexity of how historical, economic, and political relationships develop, persist, or change. For more information about KSU's General Education program requirements and associated learning outcomes, please visit http://catalog.kennesaw.edu/preview_program.php?catoid=29&poid=3434

Note: GEOG 1101 is a prerequisite for many upper-division regional and systematic geography courses, many of which may be taken as upper-division electives in a variety of majors.

Course Objectives/Goals/Learning Outcomes

Successful completion of this course will provide the following learning outcomes. Students will be able to:

1. Identify, describe, and compare the basic patterns related to and the diversity of the environment, culture, population, economic, urban, and political geography found globally and locally through the usage, interpretation, and analysis of data represented on maps.

2. Apply knowledge of basic geographic processes and concepts to the study of the themes of population, culture, environment, development, and economy.
3. Identify, describe, and analyze current events related to the thematic study of topics such as population, culture, economy, environment, and development.
4. Compare and contrast global patterns and broad geographical concepts and how these patterns affect environments and people at the local level, whether in a foreign landscape or their home culture.
5. Identify the importance of geographic knowledge in understanding the everyday functioning of our planet, and its crucial role in informing policy decision-making.
6. Develop abilities to think critically about how various parts of the planet are connected spatially.
7. Practice communicating effectively through writing, presentations, and/or class activities and participation.

Required Textbook

Human Geography: A Short Introduction, 2nd edition, by John Rennie Short, Oxford University Press, 2018. ISBN: 9780190679835.

Other readings: To add further context to textbook concepts, class discussions, and ongoing current events, a select set of supplemental readings may be made available at the discretion of the instructor. These readings may be drawn from newspapers, magazines, academic journals, etc., and would be made available as handouts in class or online via D2L.

Grading

Grade Component	Points	Percent
Participation	100	20%
5 Reading Quizzes	100	20%
Exam 1	100	20%
Exam 2	100	20%
Exam 3 (Final Exam)	100	20%
COURSE TOTAL	500	100%

Final course grades will be assigned based upon the total points from the items above out of 500 total possible points, computed to a percentage according to the grade guideline below.

A = 90-100	D = 60-69.9
B = 80-89.9	F = <59.9
C = 70-79.9

Exams (three exams each worth 20 percent of the final course grade): The exams are non-cumulative and will be multiple choice. Each exam is out of 100 points. See syllabus schedule for dates and chapters covered by each exam (each exam only covers certain chapters from the textbook and related lectures and class discussions).

Reading Quizzes (20 percent of total course grade): There will be five reading quizzes throughout the course, each worth 20 points for a total of 100 points for the total reading quizzes grade. At the discretion of the instructor, some quizzes may occur in class while others may occur on D2L outside of class. The overall total reading quiz grade is worth 20 percent of the final course grade.

Participation (20 percent of total course grade): Active participation in class including attending class (attendance will be taken randomly throughout the semester) and participating in class discussions/activities and all other components of the course is important. Consider our class meetings an assemblage of individuals that is unique and irreplaceable. Irregular attendance not only hurts a student's course work, but it weakens the class as a whole. If you need to miss a class for a reasonable reason, please let me know via email ahead of your planned absence. If you have an unplanned absence, please let me know about the reason via email as soon as possible when the absence occurs. Participation counts for 20 percent of the final course grade.

KSU Department of Geography and Anthropology

The Department of Geography and Anthropology is a student-centered department committed to fulfilling the mission of the College of Humanities and Social Sciences, which is to prepare students with a liberal arts education that empowers them to understand the human condition, to meet the challenges of the 21st century, and to become contributing citizens in a global society. Geography seeks to study and understand the distribution and dynamics of human and natural features and the interrelationships between humans and their physical environment. Academic Honesty

Every KSU student is responsible for upholding the provisions of the Student Code of Conduct, as published in the Undergraduate and Graduate Catalogs. Section II of the Student Code of Conduct addresses the University's policy on academic honesty, including provisions regarding plagiarism and cheating, unauthorized access to University materials, misrepresentation/falsification of University records or academic work, malicious removal, retention, or destruction of library materials, malicious/intentional misuse of computer facilities and/or services, and misuse of student identification cards. Incidents of alleged academic misconduct will be handled through the established procedures of the University Judiciary Program, which includes either an "informal" resolution by a faculty member, resulting in a grade adjustment, or a formal hearing procedure, which may subject a student to the Code of Conduct's minimum one semester suspension requirement.

Plagiarism Policy

No student shall receive, attempt to receive, knowingly give or attempt to give unauthorized assistance in the preparation of any work required to be submitted for credit as part of a course (including examinations, laboratory reports, essays, themes, term papers, etc.). Every KSU student is responsible for upholding the provisions of the Student Code of Conduct, as found on the Student Conduct and Academic Integrity (SCAI) website <http://scai.kennesaw.edu/students/general-info/cheating.php>. Evidence of collaboration on quizzes, discussions, false identity, or any other form of cheating will result in either an informal resolution by the professor, resulting in an "F" for the course, or a formal hearing which may subject a student to the Code of Conduct's minimum one semester suspension requirement.

Plagiarism is defined as the practice of taking someone else's work or ideas and passing them off as one's own. If you are unaware or uncertain on how to properly cite a particular source, please do not neglect to add the citation—that is considered plagiarism.

If you have questions on how to cite your work, please contact me immediately! For more information, please refer to the "Plagiarism Policy" under the Policies section of this syllabus.
